

Native housing problem Surveyed in Terrace

Native people living in Terrace are subject to a poor housing situation coupled with high rent and poor landlord-tenant relations, according to Vi Gellenbeck, executive director for the Kermode Friendship Centre.

The centre has recently undertaken a survey of the housing situation for Indians in the community, and although response has been small so far, the surveyers are finding the situation is "very poor," Gellenbeck said.

She explained that the friendship centre on Greig Avenue gets a lot of enquiries from natives looking for accommodation and so it was decided to investigate housing in the area. The hardest hit group to be single mothers, the director said, because landlords discriminate against children. Mothers on a fixed income are in a particularly bad bind.

"Society owes people a better chance than that," Gellenbeck said.

Three hundred survey forms were sent to natives living in Terrace asking questions concerning income, amount of rent, conditions of the house, and any problems they have with the house and the landlord.

Although only about a quarter of the survey forms have been returned so far, Gellenbeck said they indicate that natives are forced to take poor accommodation and pay high rents for what they are getting because they cannot afford better housing.

Many of these places are in very bad repair, she said, because landlords don't bother to maintain the places.

The attitudes of many landlords is "they're a bunch of Indians, they don't look after anything—if I fix it it'll just get broken again," Gellenbeck said.

The director said once the statistics on housing are compiled, the centre will make a presentation to the government in an attempt to get some form of subsidized housing in Terrace.

Smither's trial tainted

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Supreme Court Justice J. G. Gould Wednesday prohibited a provincial court judge in Smithers, B.C., from continuing with a trial because he handled the case improperly.

Justice Gould said Judge A. S. K. Cook's trial against 12 native people became so tainted with extraneous and inadmissible evidence that he risked not giving the Indians a fair trial.

Eleven persons were charged under the Federal Fisheries Act with illegally selling fish caught in non-tidal waters; the other person was charged with illegally catching fish in non-tidal waters.

Lawyer Stuart Rush, appearing for the Indians here, told Justice Gould that the main procedural error occurred when Judge Cook interrupted the trial to hold a separate inquiry into possible abuses of the court by the fisheries department.

He wanted to investigate allegations that the department was using the charges to pressure the Indians into signing an agreement on a policing problem in the area, Rush said.

SET UP FILE He said the judge also refused to allow the lawyer for the Indians to read a letter he received through the Crown dealing with the allegations, and created a secret sub-file on the Indians' court case.

Rush said these procedures were a breach of natural justice and doubted whether the Indians could get a fair trial once their case was resumed.

Thomas Dohm, a former B.C. Supreme Court judge and counsel for the Crown and Judge Cook, agreed that some practices were unorthodox but contended the judge did it to protect his court and the Indians from abuse.

He said Judge Cook was prepared to order a stay of proceedings on the charges if the inquiry showed the fisheries department was using the court to force the Indians into signing the agreement.

Justice Gould, in ordering the case taken away from Judge Cook, said the judge's court abuse inquiry in the middle of a criminal trial "was wholly unknown to the law."

2 jailed

MAN SENTENCED VANCOUVER (CP) — Francois Quenel, 25, was sentenced Tuesday to 1 1/2 years in jail for the beating of a rooming-house neighbor who suffered permanent brain damage in the incident. Vincent Quenel, 20, was also found guilty and will be sentenced later this week.

PORT ST. JAMES (CP) — Alfred Felix, 24, of Tachie, was sentenced Tuesday to 18 months in jail for killing his wife Aug. 25. He pleaded guilty Feb. 23 to a manslaughter charge laid after the shooting death of his wife Rita.

Close Encounters in Kitimat

Kitimat RCMP report numerous calls Wednesday night concerning unusual sightings in the Nechako area skies. With the help of the information given by callers the police were able to ascertain the origin of the objects seen.

There were unidentified flying objects in the sky, according to local residents.

The police found, after investigating the matter, that a local aeronautical engineer in the Nechako area had launched two lighter-than-air crafts.

The objects were constructed of plastic and wood and were fueled by a partly flammable substance suspended beneath the crafts.

"Steady winds, together with a local up-draft, resulted in spectacular aerobatics and numerous calls," says police.

The young engineer explained to police that he pulled the idea from the locally playing movie, Close Encounters of the Third Kind.

Further launchings have been suspended due to safety reasons.

Opposition to Hydro work

VANCOUVER (CP) — A three-day public meeting will be held next weekend in Invermere, B.C., to discuss British Columbia Hydro's proposed Kootenay diversion project.

The meeting, which starts June 2, is sponsored by the Kootenay-Columbia Coalition, a conservation organization formed to oppose the project.

Speakers will include Charles Nash, Hydro's general manager for corporate affairs; George Manuel, president of the Union of B.C. Indian Chiefs; Graham Kenyon of the B.C. Wildlife Federation and Donald Waterfield, author of Continental Water Boy and Land Grab, both books about B.C. Hydro projects.

Field trips to the area that would be affected by the diversion project will be organized during the weekend.

Under the terms of the Columbia River Treaty, Canada is allowed after September, 1984, to divert up to 1.5 million acre feet of water from the Kootenay River to the Columbia River near Canal Flats, about 45 kilometres south of Invermere in the East Kootenay.

This is about two thirds in the Kootenay flow at Canal Flats.

The diverted water would pass through Hydro's Mica and Revelstoke generation stations on the Columbia to produce about 800 million kilowatt hours of power annually. The project would cost $67 million to $82 million.

The project is expected to have an impact from Canal Flats to Golden, to the Mica reservoir and into the Arrow Lakes reservoir.

Cities, regional districts, industry, Indian bands and clubs are among the coalition's 40 affiliated organizations. It also has 200 individual memberships.

Also attending the meeting will be representatives of the Institute of the Rockies, a humanities organization based in Montana which has held several meetings about environmental issues in the Columbia River valley.

First-stage environmental and engineering studies of the diversion project are due to be released shortly.

French withdraw from Zaire

PARIS (AP) — French Foreign Legion paratroops, began their withdrawal from southern Zaire today, less than a week after recapturing the city of Kolwezi from invading rebels and aiding in the evacuation of trapped foreigners, the defence ministry announced.

Word of the withdrawal came on the heels of a Belgian proposal for an all-African peacekeeping force to ensure an uninterrupted flow of Zaire's mineral wealth to the West.

A defence ministry spokesman said the French garrison in Kolwezi will be replaced by Zairian army forces "reinforced by about 100 Moroccan troops."

The 600 legionnaires parachuted into Kolwezi Friday and Saturday. Four of them were killed in fighting with the rebels who overran the city nearly two weeks ago, the defence ministry said.

The French troops abandoned their pursuit of fleeing rebels Wednesday night, although five or six companies of rebel forces equipped with heavy weapons remained in an area about 10 kilometres west of Kolwezi, the spokesman said.

"Maintenance of security in the Kolwezi area from now on is up to the Zaire army," he said.

TROOPS TO REST The paratroops will spend about three days withdrawing by road to Lubumbashi, the capital of the province, where they will be allowed to rest before being flown back to France, the spokesman said. Lubumbashi is about 320 kilometres southeast of Kolwezi.

Meanwhile, Belgium urged the creation of a Western-supported all-African peacekeeping force to prevent another attack into Zaire's Shaba province and guarantee the continued flow of ore from the mineral-rich region.

Indian activists found not guilty in Calif.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After the longest trial in California history, American Indian Movement activists Paul Skyhorse and Richard Mohawk have been found not guilty in the tortureslaying of a cab driver at an AIM encampment.

The verdict Wednesday was greeted first by scattered sobbing by supporters in the tense, tightly guarded courtroom. Then, as jurors were polled and each affirmed the verdict, the courtroom was filled with cheering and clenched-fist salutes.

Pre-trial proceedings alone lasted 2 1/2 years. The trial took 13 months and produced 17,000 pages of transcript.

From the outset, Skyhorse, 33, and Mohawk, 27, had claimed their prosecution was politically motivated and was an attempt to discredit the AIM.

"Your frame-up didn't work," Skyhorse said defiantly as he stood up and glared at prosecutor Louis Samonsky after the verdict.

RESISTANCE ORDER Superior Court Judge Floyd Dodson told Skyhorse to sit down, but he refused and the judge ordered him removed from the courtroom. That touched off a bitter exchange between a defence lawyer and Dodson.

Dodson then rescinded his order.

The two remained in custody for a brief time on out-of-state escape and robbery warrants. Mohawk was ordered to return to court June 1 to face a drug-possession charge for allegedly having heroin in Ventura County jail.

But bail was arranged and the pair were released.

They were arrested in October, 1974, shortly after the brutal murder of George Aird, 27, in Box Canyon in Ventura County. The case was transferred to Los Angeles because of pre-trial publicity.

Three other persons—two Indians and a white woman—were charged with the murder, but they turned state's evidence, named Skyhorse and Mohawk and were granted immunity.

Public-private wage link proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's proposal to link public service compensation to wages and benefits in the private sector could "open up a real can of worms" when officials attempt to apply the formula, Lincoln Alexander (PC—Hamilton West) said Thursday.

Leon Mitchell, the key government official responsible for arbitration, replied at a Commons committee meeting he was "not in a position to comment on whether it's a can or whether there are worms in the can."

But he said he anticipated "many differences of opinion" if Parliament passes a bill to link public service raises and benefits to pay and benefits in the private sector.

The bill now before the Commons contains the criteria to be considered when government arbitrators decide the allowable increases to be granted to federal public servants.

The Public Service Alliance of Canada and other public service unions have stated their adamant opposition to the proposal to apply a formula to compensation increases.

The unions say the bill would deny free collective bargaining and would treat public servants as second-class citizens.

Federal arbitrators would consider the value of fringe benefits, such as pensions, as well as wages in comparing compensation in the public and private sectors. There was general agreement at a federal-provincial first ministers' meeting earlier this year that public sector increases should not exceed those in the private sector. The Commons committee on miscellaneous estimates was considering the $6 million budget set aside for the Public Service Staff Relations Board for 1978-79.

Referendum law will go ahead

By KEVIN DOUGHERTY QUEBEC (CP) — The Parti Quebecois government intends to go ahead with a law allowing a referendum on Quebec independence despite the illness of Robert Burns, sponsor of the bill.

Premier Rene Levesque told the national assembly Wednesday that clause-by-clause study necessary before the bill can be passed will proceed under another minister, as yet to be designated.

The government had announced it would pass the referendum law before the assembly recesses in June, and even though Burns will not resume a full workload until August, it intends to stick to that schedule.

Burns, 41, was taken to hospital in Montreal last Friday at his own request when he felt ill during a public meeting. Doctors suspected heart trouble and advised him to stay in hospital for two weeks.

Burns, who holds a second job as government House leader in the national assembly, will have to rest for two months after he leaves hospital, although he is expected to start attending cabinet meetings in July.

His position as House leader has been taken over by Sport Minister Claude Charron, and there were reports Levesque wanted Charron to pilot the referendum bill through committee.

But a government source indicated Thursday that Charron felt taking on the referendum bill in addition to his own ministry and the House leader's job would be too much.

A replacement for Burns is expected to be named officially within the next few days.

Cloudy with sunny periods. Warming tendencies.

Naked Chase

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — Three police vehicles were damaged Wednesday before municipal police were able to stop a stolen truck driven by a naked man.

The chase started when bridge patrol alerted West Vancouver police that a stolen truck was speeding off the north end of the Lions Gate Bridge.

Constable Neil Thomson chased the truck and attempted to stop it on Marine Drive but was rammed from behind by the vehicle. He suffered whiplash and was taken to hospital for examination.

The chase continued for 13 more blocks, during which, time the truck scraped the side of a police paddywagon and another police car before they were able to stop it.

Samuel Lawrence Chapman, 32, appeared later in provincial court on a charge of being in possession of a stolen truck and was remanded for psychiatric evaluation.

Band Booster raffle

The funding of school bands was given a great boost in Northern B.C. by a raffle recently held by the various band parents and directors.

Sight & Sound Ltd., with the co-operation of Yamaha Canada, provided an organ, a guitar and two stereo headsets as prizes to be raffled with the total proceeds being retained by the various band organizations.

The result of the raffle was most gratifying. Thousands of tickets were sold which meant that thousands of dollars were injected into the travel funds and general expense budgets of school bands in the area. Band parents and directors distributed tickets to students who did the selling job.

In addition to the prizes, Sight & Sound Ltd. awarded gift certificates to the sellers of the winning tickets and to the students who sold the most tickets for their band.

On Tuesday, May 16, during the intermission of the Canadian Forces Naden Band Concert, a draw was conducted. Drawing the winning tickets was band student Wendy Sharples of Caledonia Senior Secondary School Band in Terrace.

The winner of the Yamaha organ was Mrs. E. Person of Smithers, B.C. The winner of the Yamaha guitar was Erick Wright of New Aiyansh, B.C. and the winners of the stereo headsets were Ron Lund and Joan Chestley of Quesnel, B.C.

According to officials at Sight & Sound, they hope that this raffle system of developing funds for bands is the first of future annual projects. They also wish to thank all people who supported this event by becoming "BAND BOOSTERS".

Crafts Fair

The fourth Annual Outdoor Arts and Crafts Fair will be held this Saturday, May 27, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Park Avenue.

Sponsored by the Terrace & District Arts Council, the yearly event will feature displays of art work and crafts, pottery, macrame and other items, plus performances by school bands and other music and dance groups.

Cuba relations cause concern with Trudeau

By DOUG SMALL
OTTAWA (CP) — By accident or design, Canadian aid to Cuba is being eliminated at a time when Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's government is under heavy pressure to repudiate the Castro regime for its military activity in Africa.

Reports that Cubans may have helped train rebels involved in recent white killings in Zaire have drawn howls of outrage from opposition critics. Some have demanded an end to Canadian-Cuban diplomatic relations.

Trudeau has emphasized the presence of Cuban troops in Africa as "indefensible," but in the past he has argued that Canada separates aid from other considerations in its dealing with Cuba and other countries in order to help the needy.

Since then, Trudeau appears, on the surface at least, to have shifted ground. This week, he said Canada has "no present plans" for future aid projects to Communist Cuba.

Current projects "are either terminated or on the verge of being terminated," he said, referring to a $10-million line of credit Canada granted Cuba two years ago to cover health and animal health services and an additional $2.7 million in technical assistance.

But the line of credit, granted at a three-per-cent interest rate for 30 years, will be used up this year in any event. And Trudeau's statement leaves open the possibility of future aid should conditions change.

NEW COOL PHASE

His comments appear to herald a new cool phase in Canada's on-again, off-again relationship with the island country he once, in his younger years, attempted to reach by canoe from the United States.

But despite the publicly tougher attitude, past experience suggests that the relationship is unlikely to suffer for long. Little damage is expected in Canadian-Cuban trade ties, which have remained secure through periodic tiffs in the past.

Last year, Canada sold Cuba about $182 million worth of goods—80 per cent grain, 20 per cent manufactured goods. Cuba sold Canada about $45 million worth, mainly sugar and shellfish.

Instead, the latest controversy appears to be just one of a number of incidents that has nettled the relationship between the two countries since Castro overthrew the Batista dictatorship in 1959.

Various Canadian governments have bogged down with problems either directly associated with Cuba, or indirectly in recurring controversies over U.S. interference in Caribbean country.

Liberal governments such as Trudeau's have been periodically under the gun for their Cuban policies from the major Progressive Conservative opposition party. Yet it was a Conservative prime minister, John Diefenbaker, who first decided Canada would maintain normal relations with Castro's Cuba and ignore most U.S. trade embargoes.

Trudeau's stiffened stance toward aid to Cuba is clearly a bargaining position. Last month External Affairs Minister Don Jamieson indicated that aid to Cuba would be used as a lever to help force withdrawal of Cuban troops from Africa.

Trudeau's "no new projects" position is regarded by most observers as the lever in action.

Within months, there were reports of increased Canadian tourism to Cuba, and trade officials picked that year to launch a Cuban export drive.

Two years earlier, in 1970, the two countries had gone through what was possibly the closest period of their relationship when Cuban accepted terrorist kidnappers of James Cross—then British trade commissioner to Canada—to end a crisis in Quebec.

In the early days of the Castro government, Canada was concerned about Canadian Roman Catholic missionaries and what the then Diefenbaker government described as a possible Communist bridgehead in the western hemisphere.

But Canada refused to follow a U.S. lead and cut off trade, a move that earned Cuban gratitude.

Trudeau defended his publicly friendly position by saying Canada had to maintain peaceful exchanges with the island at a time when U.S. relations with Cuba, strained and eventually severed after the 1959 Communist takeover, were thawing. There was a chance the U.S. would resume trade with Cuba at a cost to Canadian exports.

Still, the warmth of the exchange came to embarrass the Canadian government a year later when, in January, 1977, it discovered that Cuba had been using its consulate in Montreal as a spy school for agents destined to work in southern Africa.

BOMB EXPLODED

The discovery was apparently the result of an investigation that started during another period of cool relations between the two countries in 1972, when a bomb blew a large piece out of the 12th floor of the Cuban trade mission.

Then, police charged six Cubans with carrying weapons, including machine guns. But the charges were dropped and Canada apologized for the police action against persons and premises that had diplomatic immunity.

Carter 'package' tax exempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's long-delayed energy package is heading down the home stretch, but it may arrive at the finish line without the crude-oil tax the president calls the centrepiece of the program.

With agreement on a natural gas pricing compromise, a conference committee of the House of Representatives and Senate has reached basic accord on all parts of the five-section program except taxes.

And there have been increasing expressions of doubt among lawmakers that the tax portion can be enacted this year—especially as congressional elections approach.

The crude-oil tax—the most controversial part of the energy-tax section—is designed to make U.S. oil as expensive as foreign oil during a three-year period.

Senate negotiators reached an accord on the natural gas portion of the package late Wednesday, voting 10 to 7 to accept a proposed compromise that lifts price controls from newly found gas in 1985.

APPROVED BY HOUSE

House negotiators broke a six-month deadlock Tuesday when they approved the natural gas measure on a 13-to-12 vote.

Carter and the House wanted to keep price controls on gas, but the Senate had voted for deregulation after two years.

The compromise is a middle ground which congressional analysts say will cost U.S. consumers about $9 billion between now and 1985 in higher heating costs.

The deal was framed in lengthy informal negotiations among key members of the conference committee and Energy Secretary James Schlesinger.

The negotiators will meet again June 6 to take up 33 relatively minor but unresolved issues on the gas legislation.

Lawmakers hope to get the gas compromise to the Senate floor—where it goes first—as soon as possible.

And there is also the possibility the gas proposal will be blocked when it reaches the Senate—by liberals who oppose deregulation, conservatives who don't think the compromise goes far enough, or by both at the same time.

EFFECT NOT FATAL

It is not expected to have a fatal effect on Canadian-Cuban relations.

For one thing, Trudeau has involved with monitoring services like the aerial photography and ground detection devices now working between Egyptian and Israeli forces in Sinai.

OFFERS HELP

Mondale said countries wanting such help should submit joint requests, preferably through regional organizations or the United Nations.

He also proposed creation of a UN peacekeeping reserve force of national contingents trained for UN duty that Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim could use whenever the Security Council established a new UN force as it did for southern Lebanon last March.

He also said that the Warsaw pact countries have built up an almost 3-to-1 advantage in tanks in Europe over the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Disarmament a failure, French president says

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing of France presents new proposals to the special UN disarmament session today after the United States offered to provide early warning systems to head off conflicts and be the "eyes and ears of peace."

France for years has boycotted the 31-nation Geneva disarmament committee out of dislike for the Soviet-U.S. co-chairmanship, and is calling for a new body of 30 to 40 members with a chairman elected for two years from among all the members except the big powers.

The Geneva disarmament committee, established by the United States and the Soviet Union, is linked only informally with the United Nations. But France says the body it wants established should be responsible to the main political committee of the General Assembly, sitting as a disarmament commission.

Giscard d'Estaing, who speaks on the second day of General Assembly debate, also is calling for a European conference on disarmament which would consider problems relating to disarmament "from the Atlantic to the Urals."

U.S. Vice-President Walter Mondale told the General Assembly Wednesday that the United States is ready to be the "eyes and ears of peace" in areas of possible conflict by providing the countries involved with monitoring services like the aerial photography and ground detection devices now working between Egyptian and Israeli forces in Sinai.

He also proposed creation of a UN peacekeeping reserve force of national contingents trained for UN duty that Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim could use whenever the Security Council established a new UN force as it did for southern Lebanon last March.

Chase fatalities

HOPE, B.C. (CP) — RCMP said that two persons were killed today in a high-speed car chase on the Hope-Princeton section of the southern TransCanada Highway.

The two were not identified.

Police said the chase started in Hope and headed east along the highway. Princeton RCMP set up a roadblock in the Manning Park area, about halfway between the two communities.

The car being chased tried to avoid the roadblock, left the road and crashed. Its two occupants were killed.

RCMP have not given any reason for the chase.

Double drowning

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Two persons were believed to have drowned early today when a car carrying three people went off Highway 97 at Monte Lake, about 40 kilometres southeast of here, and plunged into the water.

The accident was reported after one man managed to get out of the car and reach shore.

There were no further details.

PWA possible

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP) — RCMP in this southeastern British Columbia city are investigating a bomb threat that forced a Pacific Western Airlines plane to return to Cranbrook Wednesday night after taking off on a flight to Vancouver.

RCMP said today that airport officials received a telephone call about 9:30 P.M. MDT in which a caller said there was a bomb aboard PWA flight 376, a Boeing 737 that had just departed for Vancouver. The flight was ordered to return to Cranbrook 18 minutes after takeoff.

Passengers were taken off the plane and boarded another jet for the flight to Vancouver.

RCMP conducted a three-hour search of flight 376 but no bomb was found. There were no further details.

Pipeline 'held'

CALGARY (CP) — Approval of an application to import Alberta natural gas into the United States as the first stage of the $10-billion Alaska Highway natural gas pipeline project has been delayed one week due to a technicality, a U.S. government spokesman said today.

In a telephone interview from Washington, John Adger, pipeline advisor to the federal energy regulatory commission said the commission's decision Wednesday to remove the item from the agenda was based on "poor drafting" in the application by Northwest Pipeline Corp. of Salt Lake City, Utah, to import the gas.

Northwest Pipeline is the sponsor of the U.S. section of the pipeline to transport Alaska natural gas through Canada to the lower 48 states.

Pan-Alberta Gas Ltd. of Calgary is to file applications to the National Energy Board—the Canadian equivalent to the energy commission—and Alberta's energy resources conservation board to export 1.04 million cubic feet of gas daily for six years to the U.S.

The gas would be shipped in pipelines that would form the first Canadian sections of the Alaska Highway project.

Adger said the commission will consider the application next Wednesday at its regular meeting and that no problems were expected.

Pretty Baby denies porn

LONDON (AP) — Brooke Shields, the 13-year-old star of Pretty Baby, said Wednesday she hopes the film about a child growing up in a New Orleans brothel will not be banned in Britain.

"It is not pornographic or lewd," she said of the film by French director Louis Malle. It has been banned in parts of Canada, and there are reports it may not be given a British certificate for public showing because it deals with child prostitution.

A nation of Woodys

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada is a nation full of Woody Allens getting used to their loser complexes, former official languages commissioner Keith Spicer said Wednesday.

Spicer, addressing about 200 educational administration experts who have held conferences in several different Canadian cities during the past few weeks, said reports of disarray and "talk of civil war and all that" are not entirely false.

"If you've been travelling around this country for three weeks, you'll have noticed that Canada's in a God-awful mess in more ways than one," he said. "We're a nation of Woody Allens—we savor the angst that comes out of looking for an identity. We enjoy the anxiety of collectively being on a shrink's couch, so we should say our identity is our identity crisis, and then lie back and enjoy it."

Spicer said national unity is an industry which affects the universities, governments and the press, but at least it's something with which Canadians can finally identify with.

REVERSE ROLES
Spicer suggested Canadians attempt to gain a new perspective on the English-French question by "indulging in a little science fiction."

"The only way for us to come to grips with this is for the English and French to put the shoe on the other foot—make a reversal of the battles fought 200 years ago."

"Imagine B.C. is the only place in Canada where English is spoken—most British Columbians believe this already. It wouldn't take long before you'd develop your own language rights bill, as Rene Levesque has done, and savor your own paranoia."

Spicer also attacked "regionalist" attitudes and provincial premiers who indulge in "fraternal backstabbing". Adding to this disarray, he said, are the education systems in each province, which offer 10 different versions of Canadian history, and minimal ones at that.

"The textbook writers are perverse in denying Canada completely, as if it didn't exist," he said. "This is carrying the Woody Allen complex to a destructive conclusion, and we need to give the textbook writers a friendly kick in the behind." Spicer also criticized the lack of student exchange programs among the provinces.

"One-quarter million students should spend part of the academic year each year in another part of Canada," he said. "We haven't allowed our young people to learn what the different parts of Canada mean. Most Canadians know other countries better than their own."

Keable broke Secrets Act with RCMP papers, lawyer claims

OTTAWA (CP) — The Keable commission was using its inquiry into illegal RCMP activity as a pretext to delve into the entire system of national security, a federal lawyer told the Supreme Court of Canada on Thursday.

Lawyer Michael Robert argued that in the process, Commissioner Jean Keable broke the Official Secrets Act by using confidential RCMP papers during public hearings against the wishes of former solicitor general Francis Fox.

Robert, representing Solicitor General Jean Jacques Blais, spelled out an argument which appeared to lead to the conclusion that inquiry commissioners are subject to the extremely wide provisions of the 1939 act. It gives federal cabinet ministers and senior civil servants the exclusive authority to determine which government papers should be kept secret and how they are to be handled.

Commissioner Keable "did not have the right to take upon himself the authority to decide what was secret," Robert said. "The law is extremely broad and covers all state documents" regardless of the type of information they contain, or whether they are classified "secret," he said. The commission and the Quebec justice department are arguing that the Official Secrets Act cannot be used to prevent the production of federal documents before a provincial commission of inquiry. The act could not take precedence over Keable's general statutory power to subpoena papers from any government official, they told the high court earlier.

INQUIRY CLOSED
At issue is a Feb. 21 ruling by the Quebec Court of Appeal which has kept the Quebec inquiry into police wrongdoing closed for three months. One of the main reasons given by the appeals bench was that Keable had broken the Official Secrets Act.

In presenting his reply to almost two days of arguments by Quebec and six other provinces, Robert proceeded quite deliberately. Lawyers were saying that the hearing, which started Tuesday, now is likely to last four days.

Robert directed the main thrust of his argument against the provinces' position that provincial commissions have the authority to run wide-ranging inquiries into the RCMP—provided that the aim is to uncover criminal activity.

The provincial position rests, in large part, on Section 92(14) of the British North America Act which guarantees the provinces exclusive authority over the administration of justice in the province.

Robert argued that, as far as illegal RCMP activity was concerned, the provinces must limit their field of action to the prosecution of police officers before the criminal courts.

'NO JURISDICTION'
"The provinces have no special jurisdiction over the management of a federal institution," such as the RCMP, he said.

The Mounties are under the exclusive legislative authority of Parliament and the uncontested administrative authority of the federal government, he added.

Robert also argued that national security is the exclusive domain of Ottawa because only the central government is in a position to protect the entire country from subversion and terrorism.

Robert was replying to arguments that national security is an area of divided federal-provincial responsibility. The provinces claim their interest derives from

Section 92 14 of the BNA Act and clauses in the criminal code giving provincial attorneys-general exclusive responsibility for prosecuting traitors, subversives and offences related to desertion from the Canadian Forces.

Cyclist awarded injuries

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Court of Appeal Wednesday reversed an award of damages to a law student who was injured when his bicycle struck a pothole on Marine Drive in North Vancouver.

The B.C. Supreme Court had awarded Robert Clark Barratt $1,500 for injuries he received.

Mr. Justice J. S. Alkins ruled that the District of North Vancouver must have known of the actual danger because it knew that potholes were forming all the time in the street.

In allowing an appeal by the district, Justice A. Bruce Robertson, who wrote the unanimous judgment of the appeal court, said he could not agree with the conclusion by the Supreme Court judge.

"The fact that potholes were forming all the time did not itself constitute an actual danger," he said, adding that the actual danger in this case was the unusually large pothole filled with rain water.

"If the municipality is to be held liable here, it cannot be because it knew that dangerous potholes could develop, or because it knew the pothole in question had developed."

He said liability could only arise if the municipality should have known of its existence. It should have known, he said, only if it should have made more frequent inspections, a question he said was a matter of policy to be decided by the municipality. He said the position of the municipality in relation to users of streets within its boundaries is not the same as the position of a commercial corporation in relation to users of a road belonging to it.

Catholic schools "used"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roman Catholic school teachers say that parishes are withholding money traditionally available to schools and plan to replace it with funds being made available through the provincial government's promised support of independent schools.

This means the schools will not benefit from the $6.5 million from the provincial government destined for Catholic schools, the teachers say. They say teachers' salaries will not be increased and tuition fees will be reduced little, if at all.

"We are fed up with being used," said one teacher at St. Edmund's in North Vancouver. "We didn't mind working for minimum wage when the parish had no money."

"But now we are demanding a decent wage," the teacher said. The salary dispute has read to most of the 44 Catholic school boards in the province.

The teachers are demanding a minimum salary of $12,000 a year, she said, while the boards are offering $10,000 a year minimum, plus $100 for each year of teaching experience in B.C.

Most Catholic teachers in B.C. earn between $6,000 and $10,000.

Sister Marie Melling, principal of St. Edmund's, said she hopes teachers get pay hikes.

"In general, principals have been told that there won't be a reduction in school fees because parishes are not getting as much government funding as they had hoped for," she said.

Milk robbed of nutrients

OTTAWA (CP) — Powerful lighting over supermarket dairy counters robs milk of some of its nutrients and gives it a flat taste, a University of Guelph food scientist said Wednesday.

Dr. J. M. deMan told a news conference exposure to excessive light can cause a rapid loss of vitamin C, and substantial losses of vitamin D and riboflavin.

Surveys of Ontario and Quebec stores have found the average light intensity is about 200 foot-candles, but a few reached 450 foot-candles, he said. Light intensity should not exceed 50 foot-candles, while packaging should allow the passage of no more than two per cent of light.

The best packaging available is cardboard cartons, he said. Wednesday's news conference and part of deMan's research were sponsored by which markets machinery for producing the cartons.

According to our customers, it's the best deal in town.

NEAREST THING TO A LIFETIME* ENGINE!!!
(Reduces the frictional wear-and-tear that causes you to "trade in" every few years).

NEW T.M.T. HOT "PLATES" THE INSIDES OF YOUR ENGINE WITH A 50,000 MILE PROTECTIVE Du Pont Teflon* COATING!

*Reg. U.S. Pat. Office for Du Pont's fluorocarbon resins.

WHAT IS TMT?

TMT is a superconcentrated liquid formulation incorporating Du Pont TEFLON*, the same chemical compound that went to the Moon in the lunar vehicle engines. When TMT is added to an engine crankcase, this key ingredient instantly goes to work against the No. One Cause of poor gas mileage, sluggish performance, high operating temperatures, and mechanical breakdown: frictional drag.

But unless you're a chemical engineer, right now you're more interested in what TMT does than how it does it. So here it is, in a nutshell:

TMT IS FAST! There's nothing complicated about using TMT—a 12-year-old kid could do it in less than 60 seconds... and not even get his hands dirty!

TMT IS PERMANENT! It's an engine treatment, not an oil treatment. Just one single application is all it takes to permanently protect your engine, for as long as you own your car!

TMT IS SAFE! We've put our money where our mouth is on this... with a $1,000,000 Product Liability Policy issued by a nationally famous insurance company!

TMT IS EFFECTIVE! Effective for any car, truck, or other vehicle—whether it's this year's model or one that's 15 years old! Protects and preserves new engines... lightens up! and rejuvenates old ones!

TMT IS GUARANTEED! Every TMT Treatment sold carries with it the strongest, most iron-clad Guarantee we could think of—

• GUARANTEED: Better gas mileage... more miles from every tankful... or money back in full!

• GUARANTEED: Less oil burning... longer periods before "topping off"... or money back in full!

• GUARANTEED: Smoother engine performance... less stalling and rough idling... or money back in full!

• GUARANTEED: Increased horsepower and higher compression... more zip and acceleration... or money back in full!

• GUARANTEED: Longer engine life... fewer repair bills (especially for costly ring and piston jobs)... or money back in full!

• GUARANTEED: All these important, money-saving benefits no matter how long you own your vehicle... or money back in full!

In view of the many possible savings and benefits cited above, what do you suppose any vehicle owner or operator would gladly pay for a one-time, permanent treatment of TMT? $50.00? $100.00? MORE?

Well, listen closely: The established retail price of TMT is only $14.95! That's right, only $14.95—a tiny investment that could possibly pay itself back dozens of times over, in savings on gas, oil, and repair bills. Fantastic.

ED ALMQUIST WORLD FAMOUS AUTOMOTIVE ENGINEER REPORTS ON T.M.T. TEFLON TREATMENT.

"The active Chemical Ingredient in 'T.M.T.' has a special affinity for metal which causes it to 'plate' and adhere to all exposed friction surfaces. Polymers attract more polymers to a micro thickness which means a 'controlled' buildup occurs around worn surfaces, which accounts for the numerous user-reports of reduced 'blow-by'."

As an increase in idle r.p.m.'s will also be detectable due to the reduced friction after a few hundred miles of 'T.M.T.' 'plating'."

"And in order to effect a permanent treatment, you simply add 'T.M.T.' to the crankcase oil through the oil filler hole (so easy—that even a child can do it)—preferably after the engine has reached normal operating temperature. The engine should then be run for a minimum of thirty minutes, in order to make sure that all friction surfaces are 'plated'. Only eight ounces are required for the average passenger car or small truck engine."

"CONCLUSION: Not only is 'T.M.T.' easy to use (it should take 30-seconds at the most for adding a permanent treatment)—but its results can be seen even under the careful scrutiny of any mechanic! The benefits that can be expected with 'T.M.T.' in the engine—are as follows: increased Gas Mileage—Increased Horsepower—Less Oil Consumption—Less Wear on Internal Parts—Reduced Emissions—Lower Operating Temperatures—Easier Cold Weather Starts!"

FACT The cost of owning and operating any vehicle—car, bus, truck, you name it—has gone straight through the ceiling! The cost of gasoline and oil? UP! The payments demanded by skilled (and not-so-skilled) mechanics? UP! The prices tags on new cars and trucks? UP! It's positively ailing—and it's going to get worse before it gets any better!

Now that you've heard from the expert... listen to the raves of ordinary drivers.

THE RESULTS PEOPLE HAVE GOTTEN ARE SO SENSATIONAL, WE CAN'T PRINT THEM. THAT'S WHY WE'VE "BEEPED" THEM OUT OF THESE ACTUAL CUSTOMER LETTERS...

(Once you've put T.M.T. in your vehicle, you'll be filling in the figures yourself.)

Motorcycle Racer gets more power

"As an engineering student and racer, I was interested in what T.M.T. would do in a tenth mile speed test."

A series of runs from a standing start showed that our T.M.T. (Elapsed Time) was reduced by XX a second after T.M.T. was added to the fuel mix in my 325 c.c. Kawasaki Motorcycles racing motorcycle.

As a student of engineering this proved that T.M.T. reduced friction and increased power."

K.B. — Racer

"Bad Deal" becomes "Good Deal" with "T.M.T."

"I've tried gas savers, pills, new filters, engine treatments, etc. My friend told me about a product that his father had just tested for his fleet of trucks and I'm sure you guessed it was T.M.T."

My mileage has gone from XX to an unbelievably astounding XX. My friend, who is a car mechanic told me it's impossible but I've kept exact records on my last four tankfuls and have proven the old saying that even fathers can be wrong. Of course he probably won't admit it until he uses the TMT in his car that I'm giving him as a present."

— R.W.

Auto Mechanic recommends "T.M.T." "I am an Auto Mechanic and I drive a '67 Caddy, and it was using a lot of gas in the city and on the highways. I was getting 14 miles to the gallon, but now, since I've been using 'T.M.T.' I pick up XX gallons in the city—and XX gallons on the highway, so I know you people have a good product and I will recommend it."

Editorial

Tackling a Real Problem

What we are going to say here will not be news to most clergy who take their pastoral care ministry seriously. It will not be news to social workers, school teachers, welfare workers, nurses and doctors who deal with it every day.

The subject will be all too familiar to many—but especially to little kids who are too small, too weak, and powerless to do anything about it.

Yet, the subject is one that is almost "tabu" in polite society. "Nice" people won't talk about it. Politicians avoid it like the plague—it is too politically "hot". Sweet little old ladies are sometimes the only ones with enough "guts" (not a nice word!) to do anything about it—but then "society" expects them to, and ignores them in the process.

Pulpits used to thunder about it, and draw crowds as a consequence; but after a time the matter grew too tied in with "revival" religion it lost its impact, and something went out of its punch.

Newspapers are believed to be wise to avoid the subject, or just lightly skirt around it. "It could hurt advertising" some newspapers are known to have been advised.

The federal government plays both sides of the fence, and so do most provincial governments, because there is a "profit" of sorts for government coffers, connected with it worth hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

Have you guessed what it is we are talking about? The politest expression we can think of to describe it is "the consumption of spirituous liquors" and alcoholic beverages—and its effect on the children in our society. Our society right here in Terrace, too.

The word is already out—but no one seems to want to believe it, or pay it much attention—the attention it deserves—that the consumption of liquor—be it beer, wine or hard liquor—is more harmful to our society at large—the average man in the street and his family, than the drug scene—marijuana, L.S.D., speed—the whole bit, put together, many times over.

There are "kids" every night, in this city who are neglected because parents are either out getting drunk, or "out" at home—passed out, unable to look after the children, feed the baby, clothe and change the little ones—and so on.

We have been told of some of the best fishermen in town making salaries in the tens of thousands of dollars during a fishing season, who are soon on welfare, having blown the whole catch on booze. This doesn't break our hearts as much as it does to learn of kids locked out in pouring rain, by drunken parents, or kids left alone for days at a time, sometimes with a six or eight year old child in charge—while the adults are off out at a drinking party, and too drunk to come home.

Even this might be better, though, than having those same parents and big brothers and sisters home when they do their drinking under the family roof, and then pass out, or act stupidly, beating, bashing, hurting, shouting and frightening the little members of their family—but in the eyes of their neighbor, no one can intervene because "the parents are home, after all."

When a house is on fire and crowds have gathered, and someone shouts, "There's a little kid in there"—and men and women alike, strong or weak, will brave the flames and smoke and blazing embers, to risk their lives to save a single child.

But let there be TEN "little kids" in "there—while there's a wild, drunken melee, and little children get beaten up, tied to the bedposts, punished in a thousand ways for crying because they are wet, or hungry or both—and not one man or woman will normally dare to intervene in the "family matter".

An entire social "ethic" surrounds the liquor trade, from the time it first receives its stamp of "acceptance" by having a government "stamp" affixed across the cork, that is mistaken all too often as a "seal of approval" by authority.

This "cult" extends all the way down to the lowliest inhabitant of Skid Road, his eyes bleary, his mind befuddled, while his whole family may remain, cowed, starved and in a constant state of shock, locked up in a bedroom, or attic, or cellar—afraid to make a sound that might arouse an irate, drunken and dangerous parent or relative.

When we talk of plans for a better City of Terrace, let us not beat about the mountain of rhetoric and nonsense, ignoring one of the biggest obstacles to progress, happiness and a high "quality of life".

Let us—somehow, and from somewhere, draw the strength to tackle the cause of over half our automobile accidents, many of our fires, much of our accidental deaths and suicides, quantities of our illnesses—and perhaps 75 percent of our welfare problems—not to mention divorces and other forms of broken homes. The liquor problem!

Impaired driving — Everyone's responsibility

Each and every Friday or Saturday night thousands of British Columbia's young people go out to parties, to discotheques or to simply drive around. Often, an automobile is not the only thing these youths take with them; alcohol may be along for the ride. A ride that could end abruptly, more importantly, in tragedy. Young people are not alone in their affinity to become statistics; adults too must share a portion of the responsibility. Responsibility; perhaps this is the key. If so, British Columbia's licensed drivers are the most irresponsible people in the whole of Canada.

Of the ten provinces and two territories that make up this fine nation, British Columbia has the dubious distinction of possessing the worst alcohol-related traffic accident record. An honour we can ill afford. Each year, fifty-two million dollars of the public's money is wasted cleaning up the mess this province's drinking drivers create. Over one fifth of all cases currently before the courts concern impaired driving offences, and in hospitals, forty thousand bed spaces are required annually. The results of alcohol and the automobile are crystal clear; massive court tie-ups, an acute hospital space shortage, and four thousand needless, avoidable calamities.

While the victims of drinking and driving are either prosecuted or hospitalized, the real culprit escapes "scotfree". Alcohol is a proven killer; slaying more than three hundred British Columbian citizens annually. The people of this province must be made aware of liquor's potency, and how to use it within responsible limits. Alcohol, a depressant, affects the brain; slowing reflexes, and impairing eye and body coordination. An impairment that makes driving an automobile with safety totally impossible. After only a few drinks, peripheral vision is reduced by up to thirty percent; the driver becomes like a horse with blinkers on. Continued drinking will assuredly result in blurred, doubled vision and impaired distance judgement. For anyone driving in this condition steering becomes a chore, the eyes begin to get drowsy (eyelids of lead); four sets of headlights—which are real?—the blaring horn; rendering metal....

Liquor alone may not create the bloody asphalt stage that the ambulance performs upon. The scene may just as easily be set by a combination of household drugs and only one drink. Decongestants, cough syrups and a mere one and one half ounces of spirits may create an effect far more deadly than the Liquor Control Board's most potent "brew".

It is immaterial how the driver becomes intoxicated; suffice to say that once impaired, the driver constitutes a wholly unpredictable threat on the road. Each weekend, between the hours of twelve and three a.m. every third car one passes is piloted by someone who has been drinking. Every tenth car, however, has a drunk behind the wheel. Watch out! The grave may be nearer than the centre line.

But what can be done to stop this irresponsible mass murderer? The police, try as they might, still need as much help as they can get. So after a night out, be a responsible citizen; hail a taxicab or catch the bus. In spite of all these alternate forms of transportation, some people still insist that they know their limit; these are the people who must be watched. Man or machine must intercede between the drunk and the roadway. Man's ingenuity combined with advance technology may provide the final solution. Drinking and driving accidents are on the rise, and public pressure against impaired drivers is rising in tandem with it. Like the seat-belt before, a drunk-proof ignition system is an inevitable automobile necessity. Perhaps by the next generation, technology will have surmounted all the obstacles that have prevented the extinction of the drunk behind the wheel. This, of course, will be of no help to today's youth. As graduation time approaches once again, police brace themselves against the flurry of inevitable accidents. Although no one believes it will happen to them; some students will never see the final day of the school year. When twenty-six percent of all drinking-driving accidents are the responsibility of this province's minors, (who only make up ten percent of all licensed drivers), the "bootlegger" cannot take the full blame. Although "bootleggers" procure alcohol for minors, which is illegal, the majority of them are not fool enough to practice drinking and driving.

Anyone who questions that impaired driving is a serious problem in British Columbia must face up to the facts. Three hundred graves provide mute testimony against alcohol and the automobile—the deadliest combination on this province's asphalt today. It is high time we exercised our responsibilities as citizens to this fine province because on the roadway, no one lives a charmed life, and death rarely takes a holiday.

Reprinted from "Lifeline," a publication of CounterAttack through the Department of the Attorney-General.

Irresponsible recommendations

LABOUR ADVISORY COMMITTEE

"Recommendations made by the Royal Commission on Corporate Concentration are completely irresponsible" stated Barry English, spokesperson for the labour advisory committee. "The report completely fails to recognize that multinational corporations have had adverse effects on the social, political and economic health of this country. It is nothing less than a biased apology for monopoly control of our economy."

"The recommendation that corporate profits be made tax free is particularly ridiculous. Already working people pay 80 percent of the taxes in this country. The elimination of company taxes would mean that citizens would contribute an even greater share." English noted.

English continued by pointing out that "These corporations already enjoy overly-generous tax laws and certainly do not deserve further concessions. Perhaps these multinationals should be made to repay the billions of dollars in deferred taxes that are owing the Canadian people instead."

The Labour advisory committee cannot understand how the commission failed to notice that it is monopoly control of our economy that has led to price fixing and inflation. In every field, commercial and industrial giants regulate what we purchase and how much it costs. Further mergers can only lead to complete domination. Already oil, auto, food and other sectors are completely controlled by cartels.

The report also suggests that Canada will need up to $520 billion in investment in the next seven years. It fails to mention that much of this money is destined for projects that are unnecessary and not in the Canadian interest. Many of these projects are in the energy field and are designed to meet American and not Canadian needs.

Nor does the report mention the many hundreds of millions of dollars exported from Canada each year. Canadian banks and corporations have invested heavily in projects in third world countries. This money is lost to Canada and projects in this country.

To the Labour Advisory Committee, as taxpayers, the $3 million that the Federal Government wasted on this commission "boggles the mind." It is a high price to pay just to employ a corporate lawyer and a businessman for a three year period.

TODAY IN HISTORY By THE CANADIAN PRESS May 26, 1978

Samuel Pepys, the great English diarist, died 275 years ago today—in 1703—aged 70. He had been the equivalent of minister of food during the plague of 1666 and was one of only a handful of the government who did not flee London. In 1696 he reorganized the Royal Navy along modern lines and restored its efficiency. Throughout his life

Pepys stood by his friends, although some (including his wife) were Roman Catholics and he was several times imprisoned and falsely accused of complicity in "Popish plots."

1583—Susanna, the first child of William and Ann Shakespeare, was baptized. 1799—Alexander Pushkin, Russian poet, was born.

Ottawa Offbeat

The Public's going to Win

Ottawa.—In one reassuring sense, suggests retiring veteran Conservative MP Douglas Alkenbrack, the public is going to win the next election... whenever it comes.

Win it, that is, whether the Conservatives or the Liberals come to power.

This being so, he says, because since the last election, Parliament and most of its Honorable Members—and more important, both major parties—have come down from their self-exalted position of imposing their will against the majority wishes of their electors.

Doug Alkenbrack is speaking specifically of Parliament's bull-headed insistence on the last so-called "free vote"—dictated by the party leaders—that capital punishment be abolished "once and for all."

Since then, under increasing public pressure, just about everyone concerned—including Prime Minister Trudeau and Conservative Leader Joe Clark—has been having second thoughts.

In the dark shadow of the continuing killing of police officers, and the increasing threat of terrorism around the world, both leaders are on the record as saying they wouldn't object to a national referendum on capital punishment if that is the accepted majority public sentiments.

Going even further, Defence Minister Barnett Danson has come right out with the hard—as compared to the previously prevailing weak-kneed bleeding heart position—declaration that society to cope with terrorism has to return to capital punishment.

Quite sanely he observes that if there hadn't been jailed terrorists in Italy before the courts—if, in fact, they had been summarily tried, convicted and executed—there would have been no incentive for their fellow anarchists to kidnap and kill former five-times premier Aldo Moro.

Canada has had its own taste of terrorism—the Quebec Liberation Front's kidnapping and killing of Labor Minister Pierre Laporte and the snatching of British diplomat Jasper Cross—so it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that politicians are changing their minds about capital punishment for reasons of fear and self-preservation.

If it happened here before—during the FLQ October Crisis—what's to prevent it happening again?

Little but sure and swift retribution for terrorists. So Barney Danson's out of the capital punishment closet and in favor of execution for terrorists.

With ordinary MPs—and likely, most candidates—it goes further than terrorism.

It comes home to the riding where the constituents, almost since the day Parliament abolished capital punishment, have been upset by the arrogance of their MPs "I know best what's good for you" attitude.

Some of these know-it-all MPs have retired or gone to their government rewards—and these include some leftist-Liberal-leaning Conservatives.

Among those who still remain and are feeling the pressure-of public and organized police opinion—is Flora MacDonald, the "Red Tory" from Kingston and the Islands.

Kingston's a city of prisons and the military and a stronghold of law and order.

She, especially, but a lot of other MPs too who will be running again, now find their crusade for abolition could cost them their seat.

Losing their constituencies, they'll be further depressed to know that the next government—be it Liberal or Conservative—is all but committed to a referendum on capital punishment.

Women Oppose Brotherhood

The National Action Committee on the Status of Women has written to the Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development, protesting any use of government funds for the National Indian Brotherhood's Conference, June 27-29 in Morley Alberta.

The Brotherhood is holding a national All Chiefs' Conference on these dates and a major item on the agenda will be the rights of Indian women. Under section 12 (1) (b) of the Indian Act an Indian woman who marries a non-Indian loses all her status and rights as an Indian. No members of Indian Rights for Indian Women, a national Indian women's group, have been invited to the conference as the National Indian Brotherhood has refused to consult with them.

NAC is urging Hugh Faulkner, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development, to oppose any use of funds from the government for the Morley meeting until participation of Indian Rights for Indian Women is assured.

Expensive French

Dear Sir:

It was noted in a recent C.R.T.C. announcement carried in your paper that it is the intention of the C.B.C. to broadcast the C.B.C. French service on Channel 11. This will be a repeater process from the present programming broadcast in Vancouver and will be relayed to Terrace via micro-wave facilities.

It should be realized that the cost of this relay service would be at least $270,000 per year. This service will also require the installation of a transmitter (to be located on Copper Mountain) at an equipment cost of at least $100,000 plus the labour and technical services required for installation. These figures are very conservative and this seems to be a high price tag for all the taxpayers to pay in order to cater to such a small local minority.

It appears that our priorities are out of line as the cost of this unnecessary T.V. service would alleviate the transportation problems that are causing so much hardship to our coastal peoples.

Yours truly,

Travel ideas from the library

by Michael Collins
Now that summer is just about here many of you will be planning your vacation and if you need some ideas don't forget to come down to your public library. The public library contains a wide variety of travel books that cover every corner of the globe. A brief listing of a few of the many travel books you can borrow includes:

A Guide to the Quebec Islands by Neil G. Garey. For those who want to get away to a truly uncrowded and unspoiled vacation spot this guide may help!

It will provide information about the many beaches, parks, boating and fishing areas that may be found on this magical island off our coast. Information on transportation and accommodations is included as well as tips on where to find such things as old Haida totem poles and Japanese glass fishing balls.

Yellowhead Milepost by Richard and Rochelle Wright. If your travels take you east this book will come in handy. Every place of conceivable interest along Route 16 is listed along with anecdotes about the history of the various places. Photographs and exact locations in both miles and kilometres highlight this compact volume.

Jasper National Park by D.M. Baird. This is one of a number of booklets about the national parks in Canada.

Maps and photographs accompany the text which points out the most interesting features in each park. A short history and description of geology, plants and animals of the region are given as well.

Kids, Kids, Kids and Vancouver, by Daniel Wood. Here is a book that tells you hundreds of different things you can do with your kids the next time you're down in the big city. Most of the attractions are free and most are not well publicized. This is the way to find out about them.

Fodor's Caribbean, Bahamas and Bermuda. This is one of the many Fodor travel guides available at the library. For those planning foreign travel you should know as much as possible about currency rates, hotel prices, transportation costs, points of interest, and local customs. The Fodor books will give you a good start.

Let's Go: The Budget Guide to Europe edited by Jeff Brown. Here is an indispensable guide for those who want to see Europe with a minimum of cash. You'll find interesting tips on hitchhiking, student discounts, cheap hotels, inexpensive restaurants and much more.

Dream Towns of Europe by Joseph Wechsberg.

Strictly speaking this is not a tourist guidebook, but rather just one of the many travel books at the library, full of beautiful color pictures for armchair travellers.

A Bon Voyage from your Public Library.

Spiritual rituals last chance for Indians fighting alcohol

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — A rigorous four-day initiation into spiritual dancing, which preceded the death last December of Elliot Henry, must be re-taken if native people are to defeat the ravages of drug and alcohol abuse, a native Indian said Wednesday.

Stephen Point, testifying at an inquest into Henry's death, said Henry became gravely ill on the fourth day of the initiation, and died in his arms while being taken to hospital.

"He (Henry) said on that morning that he wasn't feeling well," said Point, testifying under protection of the Canada Evidence Act. "He was breathing fast and his hands were very cold as if there was no circulation in them."

"We let him go to the fire in the longhouse to warm up and then let him go for a rest. In the afternoon we took him in the truck to the hospital, but on the way there he died."

Point said the initiation is a last-chance rebirth for Indians fighting a losing battle with drugs and alcohol—"people who have never been successful."

HAVE PROBLEMS
"Our people are suffering from what some call cultural shock," he said. "They get criticized for drinking a lot but they are faced with many social problems."

"The Indian culture is looked down upon. We walk down the street and get called names like dirty Indians and savages. When we try to put on a dance for them they hoot and holler and make fun of us."

"It makes us ashamed of being Indians."

Point said the purpose of the longhouse ceremonies is to teach Indians their heritage and allow them to take pride in their traditions, which before the arrival of the white man did not include the abuse of drugs and alcohol.

"We consider the people we help like our own sons and daughters. We've never done anything to hurt them, we are trying to help."

DAMAGED HEART
The inquest has heard medical evidence that Henry had severe liver and heart damage due to alcoholism and that the stress of his four-day initiation had caused the fatal cardiac arrest en route to the hospital.

Point and others, including Henry's brother, testified that they had been cured of alcoholism by becoming spirit dancers and adopting the traditional customs of brotherhood.

The initiation consists of abstinence from food and although water is used only sparingly, Point said Henry was given a deer broth to drink because doctors had warned of the danger of dehydration, particularly with alcoholics.

Another part of the initiation, done only in winter months, requires a nude dip in cold water and a run through the snow-covered countryside.

Point said Henry told them after the dunking on the third day of his initiation that he was "grateful for what we were doing for him."

Television violence and delinquency studied

VANCOUVER (CP) — Delegates to a conference covering the problem of juvenile delinquency looked at the relationship between television violence and juveniles Wednesday by experiencing television images themselves.

"Television has been around for 25 years, but we haven't even decided yet how to use it," Fred Kingston, who prepared a film, slide and sound presentation on television, told about 250 delegates at the opening session of the three-day biennial conference of the British Columbia Corrections Association.

The one-hour show, during which delegates were bombarded with television images and sounds, was designed to start discussion on the relationship between violent television shows and juvenile violence by forcing delegates to explore their own impressions of television, Kingston said.

Television plays an important role in life because of the stereotypes it presents through shows and commercials, which influence how people relate to one another, he said.

Peter Bone, the association's media coordinator, said recent studies show that there is a relationship between juvenile violence and watching television.

The studies show that people who watch a lot of television tend to be more fearful outside their homes than others and greatly exaggerate the proportion of people involved in law enforcement, because many prime time shows involve violence and law enforcement themes, he said.

English called cultural millionaires

OTTAWA (CP) — The Federation of Francophones Outside Quebec hopes to convince politicians to increase services to French-Canadian minorities by showing them that English-Quebecers are cultural millionaires by comparison.

The federation released a report today packed with figures showing that English-Quebecers are better educated, earn more money and receive more medical, educational and legal services than French-

Canadians in other provinces.

The English-Quebecers' society is presented as vigorous and growing by assimilation of immigrants and French-Quebecers. French-Canadian culture outside Quebec is depicted as economically disadvantaged and being absorbed by the English-speaking milieu.

There are about 900,000 French-Canadians outside Quebec, 75 per cent of whom live in Ontario and New Brunswick.

Yucca Futz on-tap for Terrace Skydivers

The Terrace Skydivers are still alive, and kicking. The group recently competed in the 11th Annual Kamloops Skydiving May Meet at which one Terrace skydiver novice took second place.

Roxanne Vermette, of Kitimat, was the only local jumper to take a front-line spot with her jumps.

Other than Roxanne only two members of the local club were able to attend the meet. Tom Simpson and Diane Mueller were the courageous pair who took the trip to Kamloops.

In anticipation of this year's B.C. Summer Games seven local jumpers, including the areas of Kitimat, Prince Rupert, and Vanderhoof, are preparing for competition.

In the more recent future a jump-off will be held in Vanderhoof July 22 and 23. Following that members will be ready for the August 19 and 20 jumps at the Summer Games.

For more information on the jump-offs call Tom Simpson at 635-7738. The fourth Annual Yucca Futz will be held at Woodcock B.C. July 1 and 2. This is a club sponsored competition.

Categories for the meet number four: Novice, from 0 jumps to self-supervised jumps, Junior, from self-supervised to 75 jumps, Intermediate, from 76 to 250 jumps, and Senior, from 251 jumps and up.

Trophies will be presented to the participants in the Yucca Futz for first place jumpers. Plaques will accompany second and third place divers.

Team accuracy is another aspect of the competitions which awards a club with a plaque. Perhaps the most honoured trophy is the one to be presented the most sportsman-like guy or gal skydiver.

The Woodcock competition will include a barbeque on Saturday so all are urged to bring their camping gear and make a weekend of it.

Woodcock is located about 50 miles from Terrace and has a good landing site.

Vancouver to host international golf tourney

Two more national PGA Champions, including Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, have accepted invitations from the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association to participate in the $100,000 Labatt's International Golf Classic in Vancouver, August 17 to 20.

David Zink, Executive Director of the CPGA, yesterday revealed that the great international veteran from Argentina has agreed to play in the 150th Labatt's anniversary event at the Shaughnessy Country Club.

Also added to the field is Patrick Cotton of the Club France near Paris, holder of the French Professional Golfers' Association Championship and a regular member of the strong fields that compete in the European Order of Merit Championships.

De Vicenzo is one of golf's great international stars, winner of the British Open Championship at Hoylake in 1957, and in the top 10 of that event nine other times in a span of almost 30 years. He has held the Argentine Open title 10 times, was runner-up in the Masters to Bob Goalby in 1968, won the Brazilian Open six times in addition to the Dutch, French, German, Spanish, and Jamaica Opens.

Previous entries in the prestige-filled event which the CPGA and Labatt's plan as the second richest tournament in Canada this year, are defending Champion George Knudson of Toronto's Oakdale Golf Club, New Zealand PGA Champion Simon Owen and South Africa PGA Champion John Bland.

"We are pleased with the way responses are coming in from our invitations," Zink said yesterday.

"We cannot expect to get all of the PGA Champions from around the world because our dates will undoubtedly conflict with other major world tournaments," he added. "However, we are pleased with the response so far and we expect to be able to announce some more names in the near future."

For the first time in the CPGA's history, the Championship is being thrown open to foreign players as a form of appreciation to Labatt Breweries of Canada Limited who are celebrating their 150th birthday in business and their 12th as sponsor of the CPGA Championship.

In addition to invitations sent out to more than 20 PGA champions throughout the world, the CPGA and Labatt's have sent invitations to a number of other major international stars.

"We will be announcing within the next week," Zink stated, "the entry of one of the world's premier golfers, as well as other entrants from several other golfing nations."

Bengals could lose best defensive end

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League appeared unconcerned about a report that one of their first-round draft choices, defensive end Ross Browner, might join Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League.

"It doesn't concern us," general manager Paul Brown said Wednesday. "If he goes to Canada, he'll be back in a year or two anyway. Not only is Canada a foreign country, but there is the NFL pension and several other benefits here to consider."

"We have our three defensive linemen plus we have Ted Vincent, whom we like, as well as Ken Johnson and Coy Bacon. We'd like to have Browner but if he went to Canada it wouldn't be a life-or-death matter."

The Notre Dame graduate was in Toronto Tuesday and said he was leaning toward signing with the Argonauts, the team that is suing the Bengals for $2 million for allegedly tampering with offensive tackle Mike Wilson.

Mike Brown, Bengals' assistant general manager, flew last week to the Atlanta office of Browner's agent, Prentice Yawkey, and has communicated with him by telephone since then. But he wouldn't say how talks are going.

Paul Brown said a verbal agreement has been reached with the Bengals' other first-round selection, University of Washington centre Blair Bush, and a contract is expected to be signed on Saturday.

Toronto beats Seattle in N.A. soccer

Vanco Balevski scored two of Toronto Metros-Croatia's three goals in a 3-1 win over Seattle Sounders in a North American Soccer League game Wednesday night, but he says he likes setting up goals more than scoring them.

"I'm not known primarily as a goal scorer, but as a playmaker," says the 30-year-old midfielder. "I still don't know my team-mates well enough to make the good plays."

In four games with Toronto, Balevski has scored on three penalty kicks, one rebound, and on a shot from about 20 yards out. The five goals account for half of the team's scoring in its opening ten games.

Balevski's penalty kick at 4:19 of the first half gave Metros a 1-0 lead and started Toronto on its way to its third win of the season against six losses.

Seattle was gaining control of the match as the first half drew to a close, and early in the second half they tied the score at 1-1. Balevski's second goal at 62:53 put the Metros back in the lead and an insurance goal by Ivair Ferreira rounded out the scoring.

Chicago Sting took its first victory of the season 2-1 over Detroit Express on the strength of two goals by Carl Heinz Granitz and 18 saves by goalkeeper David Flaschen.

The other winless team in the NASL, Memphis Rogues, upset the defending champion New York Cosmos 1-0 on a first-half goal by Tony Fields.

Minnesota Kicks extended their winning streak to seven with a 3-2 win over Tampa Bay Rowdies.

Tony Bellingher scored the final goal in a tie-breaker shootout that went to the eighth kicker—with the shootout score at 3-3—to give Dallas Tornado a 2-1 win over Los Angeles Aztecs.

In other shootout games, Portland Timbers goalkeeper Mick Poole blocked three Washington Diplomats overtime shots to give Portland a 2-1 victory, eliminating Washington's chances of moving ahead of the Cosmos in their Eastern division of the National Conference standings.

Mike Flanagan scored his 11th and 12th goals of the season to lead New England Tea Men to a 3-1 win over San Jose Earthquakes.

Goals by Mike Stojanovic, Pat Ercoli and Ibrahim Silva gave Rochester Lancers its second straight shutout with a 3-0 win over Tulsa Roughnecks.

Innisfail cow-pokes lead rodeo

Central Alberta cowboys and particularly those from Innisfail, led the lineup at the pay window at the Stavely, Alta., indoor rodeo, May 12 to 14.

Innisfail's Ivan Daines won the saddle bronc riding with a mark of 75 on Big Country Rodeo's Morley while neighbor Larry Robinson won the calf roping with a sizzling 8.9 seconds. Daines and Robinson qualified for both the Canadian Finals Rodeo and the National Finals Rodeo in 1977.

Allan Thorpe of Bowden, Alta., shared top spot in bareback riding with a newcomer to the Canadian pro rodeo scene, Les Bell of Orange, Australia.

Jim Brown of Hussar, Alta., recorded the highest mark of the rodeo with a 90 on Big Country's Homer to win the bull riding. Three points back was Mike Tierney of Broken Bow, Nebraska.

Kent Butterfield of Stettler, Alta., topped the steer wrestling with a run of 3.9 seconds, followed by Tom Evans of Lethbridge at 4.1 seconds.

Keith Elliott of Edmonton won the novice saddle bronc event while three Albertans, Jerri Duce, Granum, Maria McGhie, Cardston, and Rilla Sappok, Ryley, tied for first place in ladies barrel racing.

Pro rodeo action continues with events at Taber, Alta., May 20 to 22, Cloverdale, B.C., May 19 to 22 and Falkland, B.C., May 21 and 22.

Israeli coach not allowed in China

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. men's volleyball team, accusing the Chinese of "political shenanigans," has cancelled its June tour of China.

"What began as a friendly playing tour of China at their invitation has become a political hassle," coach Doug Beal told a news conference Thursday.

The U.S. men's and women's teams were invited to play a series of matches in China June 3-18. But the Chinese refused to permit Arie Selinger, coach of the women's team, to go on the tour because she was travelling under an Israeli passport, Beal said. Selinger is an Israeli citizen who has coached the team for three years. "We objected to this position by the Chinese and have been in negotiation since the time they put this roadblock in our way," Beal said. "We feel that for the women's team to make the tour without their coach would be a real handicap as well as a slap in the face. The Chinese now say that the coach could come if she gets a United States re-entry visa."

"As a matter of principle, we cannot accept these political shenanigans," he said. "We wanted to go to China to play volleyball, not international politics."

The women's team is scheduled to leave for Korea and Japan May 27.

UBC coach tries Canadian league

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dianne Murray is a 23-year-old volleyball coach with impressive credentials who would like a full-time coaching position in Canada.

Murray, a Vancouver native whose playing career with the national team was cut short by a back injury, has handled the women's team at the University of British Columbia for two years as a non-paid student.

UBC Thunderettes won the Canadian women's senior title earlier this year and also took home the national intercollegiate championship. Now, armed with a degree from UBC's faculty of education, she would like a full-time coaching job in Canada so that she can pay off her student loans.

Murray knows that such a job in Canada is rare and she has resigned herself to looking for a teaching position.

"Coaching in a Canadian university doesn't seem as important as it is in the States," she said in a recent interview. "You can't make a living from it and that's why we lose a lot of coaches to American schools."

Murray hasn't had any fulltime coaching offers and said she likely will teach at the high school level—and coach, too.

Spain rallies

ROME (AP) — Jose Higueras of Spain ousted third-ranked Brian Gottfried of the United States from the $230,000 Italian Open tennis championships today while Harold Solomon beat fellow American Arthur Ashe.

Higueras, seeded No. 13, won 6-3, 6-2 as Gottfried was caught on an off day, his backhand placement shots falling short of their target.

Ashe, 32, the former Wimbledon champion attempting a comeback after a season off with foot surgery, struggled for two sets, but caved in to eightseeded Solomon 6-4, 3-6, 6-0.

Fourth-ranked Eddie Dibbs of the United States gained the quarter-finals by eliminating unranked Australian Kim Warwick 7-5, 6-3.

Among women, top-seeded Mina Jausovec of Yugoslavia was drubbed by defending champion Janet Newberry of the United States 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Blue Jays suffer loss to Boston 8-2

By ROSS HOPKINS
TORONTO (CP) — Mike Torrez was the first to admit he wasn't at his best Wednesday night.

Yet he still managed to win his sixth game of the season and Boston manager Don Zimmer believes that's what makes the 31-year-old right-hander one of baseball's premier pitchers.

Torrez pitched a seven-hitter Wednesday, while Jack Brohamer and Carlton Fisk each hit two-run homers as the Red Sox moved into undisputed possession of first place in the East Division of baseball's American League with an 8-2 victory over Toronto Blue Jays.

"Torrez has pitched some games, like tonight, when he didn't throw all that well and still won," said Zimmer as the Red Sox moved a full game ahead of Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees. "That's the sign of a good pitcher when he can win, even when he's not sharp."

Torrez, 8-2, gave up only a pair of third-inning singles before the Blue Jays struck for their two runs in the sixth. Singles by Bob Bailor and Roy Howell and walks on eight straight balls to John Mayberry and Tommy Hutton produced the first run. Howell then scored as Rick Cerone bounced into a forceout.

"My fastball was running about two feet at times and I couldn't find my release point," said Torrez who signed a lucrative contract with the Red Sox as a free agent this season after playing an instrumental part in the Yankees' World Series triumph last year. "I'm just glad the guys could get me some runs."

WALKED FIVE

Torrez struggled with his control throughout the contest, walking five while striking out just one—designated hitter Willie Pshaw with the bases loaded, none out and one run across in the sixth.

Brohamer's home run was a first of the season and came after a one-out walk to red Lynn. He hit a 2-0 pitch closer Dave Lemanczyk, 1-0 over the right field fence, about 340 feet away.

Lynn also preceeded Fisk's homer with a walk— one of four the Red Sox drew from three Toronto pitchers. Three of those given free bases ended up scoring.

Fisk, with his fourth home run of the season, also hit a 2-0 pitch from Lemanczyk and gave the Red Sox a 5-0 lead in the sixth. Boston's third run came in the third on Rick Arleson's bloop double down the right field line and Jerry Remy's single up the middle.

FIRST APPEARANCE

Boston got its sixth run in the seventh without benefit of a hit off reliever Joe Coleman, making his first appearance with the Blue Jays since being purchased Monday night from Oakland A's.

After a single to Fisk and Brohamer's double, Evans delivered the last two Red Sox runs in the eighth with a single up the middle.

Rick Bosetti ran the Blue Jays out of a couple of scoring opportunities. He opened the third with a base hit but was caught stealing. Bob Bailor followed with a long single to right-centre.

In the seventh, with the Red Sox up 6-2, Bosetti singled with one out and moved to second on Bailor's ground out. Roy Howell followed with a single, but Bosetti ran through third-base coach Jackie Moore's stop sign, was caught in a rundown and eventually tagged out by shortstop Burleson.

Britain tops cricket

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — England beat Pakistan by 132 runs in a limited-over cricket match at Old Trafford today.

The Pakistanis were dismissed for 85 in reply to England's score of 217 for seven on Wednesday when play in the one-day international was curtailed by the weather.

Fast bowler Bob Willis took four wickets for 15 runs in an 11-over stretch.

Webb wager

VANCOUVER (CP) — Insider Marvin Webb has been assigned to Vancouver Canadians of the Pacific Coast League, the baseball team announced Wednesday.

Oakland A's of the American League purchased Webb's contract from San Antonio Dodgers of the Texas League. Oakland has working agreement with Vancouver.

Webb replaces infielder Mike Adams on the Vancouver roster. Adams is out indefinitely after suffering a fractured jaw Monday in a line-drive collision with a Phoenix Giants' player.

TORONTO (CP) — Eight amateurs will take part in the $100,000 Ladies Professional Golfers' Association tournament June 1-4 at St. George's Golf and Country Club. They are: Lorette Strait of Stouffville, Ont.; Judy Ellis of Waterloo, Ont.; Cheryl McConnell of Arrow, Ont.; Pam Johns and Sue Wickware of Toronto; Cheryl French of Amrose, Alta.; Michele Dubault of Montreal and Paula Phillips of Vancouver.

PCL Gulls dump Missions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fireballing Frank McCormack, sent down to the Pacific Coast baseball League by Seattle Mariners because of control problems last year, was his own worst enemy with San Jose Missions on Wednesday night.

San Jose was leading Salt Lake City Gulls 4-2 in the third inning when McCormack fielded a potential double-play grounder. He threw the ball into center field, resulting in two unearned runs that enabled the Gulls to tie the score. The final score was Salt Lake 5, San Jose 5.

In other games, Albuquerque Dukes overcame Tacoma Yankees 8-6, Phoenix Giants squeezed past Hawaii Islanders 4-3 and Portland Beavers dumped Vancouver Canadians 7-3. Wet grounds resulted in postponement of Tucson's game at Spokane.

SMITH HITS WINNER

Tommy Smith's two-run single in the fifth inning provided Salt Lake with what proved to be the winning margin. Andy Dyes hit a solo home run for San Jose.

Albuquerque remained half a game behind first-place Phoenix in the Eastern Division by downing Tacoma, top team in the West.

Cardinals end losing streak with 2-0 on Expos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis Cardinals were beginning to talk to themselves, but nothing happened until John Denny started listening.

"I told myself, 'Enough is enough!'" the lanky right-hander said. And with that he baffled Montreal Expos with a two-hitter that, coupled with Ted Simmons's two-run single in the third inning, carried the Cards to a 2-0 win, ending their 11-game losing streak.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago Cubs moved past Philadelphia and into first place in the East with a 10-inning, 6-4 victory over the Phillies. San Francisco Giants held its one-game lead in the West with a 2-0 win over Houston Astros. Cincinnati Reds beat Atlanta Braves 5-4. San Diego Padres defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 9-3 and Pittsburgh Pirates beat New York Mets 6-5 in 10 innings.

"I looked at the losing streak as something that goes both ways," Denny said. "You can win a bunch in a row or lose. I accepted it as that. I don't think the guys really got down that much. I think we worried too much about other teams. Sometimes we got beat, other times we beat ourselves."

The only hits Denny gave up en route to his second two-hitter of the season and eighth career shutout were singles by Andre Dawson in the sixth inning and Gary Carter in the seventh. He struck out three Expos, walked one and helped himself by starting two double plays.

In the decisive third, Garry Templeton was safe on a fielder's choice, then Hal Dues hit Jim Dwyer with a pitch and Montreal third baseman Larry Parrish bobbled Ken Reitz's grounder to lead the bases before Simmons came through, halting St. Louis's worst slide since the 14 straight defeats it suffered in 1916.

Cubs 6 Phillies 4

Manny Trillo's two-run homer in the 10th inning, on Gene Garber's first offering after he hit slugger Dave Kingman with a pitch, propelled the Cubs one-half game ahead of the Phillies in the East.

The Cubs tied it 4-4 in the ninth when, with two outs, Steve Ontiveros and Dave Rader singled and Greg Gross hit a triple down the left field line.

Giants 2 Astros 0

John Montefusco had a threehit shutout going but manager Joe Altabelli sent Vic Harris in as a pinch-hitter for Montefusco in the sixth inning, even though Harris had only one hit in 33 previous at-bats.

Harris hit a two-run single.

Reds 5 Braves 4

Cincinnati stayed within a game of San Francisco by scoring three runs in the eighth inning against Atlanta, the decisive one scoring when reliever Mickey Mahler walked Joe Morgan with the bases loaded.

Padres 9 Dodgers 3

Tucker Ashford and Oscar Gamble each hit a homer and combined for five hits and five runs batted in to lead a 12-hit San Diego attack that dropped the Dodgers two games behind the Giants.

Pirates 6 Mets 5

Willie Montanez hit a first-inning single and home runs in the eighth and 10th innings to drive in four runs for the Mets but Rennie Stennett's two-run single in the bottom of the 10th won it for Pittsburgh.

A's fall from first

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another funny thing happened to Oakland A's Wednesday night—they fell out of first place in the American League West Division.

Maybe Bobby Winkles knew something when he quit as manager of the A's Tuesday, because they continued a slide that has seen them lose 12 of 17 games, the latest a 7-1 decision to Milwaukee Brewers.

Coupled with California's 4-1 win over Chicago White Sox, it pushed the Angels into first place, five percentage points ahead of the A's, who had been on top since April 25.

In other American League action, Kansas City Royals beat Seattle Mariners 6-5, Texas Rangers beat Minnesota Twins 3-2 in 11 innings, Boston Red Sox defeated Toronto Blue Jays 8-2 and Detroit Tigers downed Baltimore 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader before the Orioles came back to take the nightcap 1-0. The Cleveland-New York game was rained out.

Chris Knapp pitched a four-hitter and Don Baylor and Bobby Grich homered to lead the Angels over the White Sox in the standings. "We struggled to get here," said Baylor. "We lost seven of 11 on the road. The thing we have to do is turn that around and start winning two out of three. We have to take advantage of things. Kansas City is not playing well and Texas is playing .500 ball. We know Kansas City will start playing well sooner or later."

"This is a pretty good bunch of boys," said manager Dave Garcia, whose job was reported in jeopardy earlier this month.

"I read about what has happened to the Yankees and the A's a few years ago and wonder how good they could have been if they didn't have problems."

Meanwhile, the A's lost when Milwaukee's Mike Caldwell pitched a six-hitter and Robin Yount drove in three runs for the Brewers.

"We have to juggle and hope we're lucky," said Jack McKeon, who took over when Winkles quit. "We've seen two pretty good pitchers the last two nights (Caldwell and Jerry Augustine). Left-handers are going to give us trouble."

Red Sox 8 Blue Jays 2

Jack Brohamer and Carlton Fisk hit two-run homers and Mike Torrez pitched a seven-hitter for his sixth victory as the Red Sox moved into first place in the AL East, one game ahead of Detroit and New York.

Dwight Evans also drove in two runs with an eighth-inning single.

Royals 6 Mariners 5

The first two runs in the ninth on Tom Poquette's bases-loaded grounder and Hal McRae's sacrifice fly.

Kansas City erased a 4-0 deficit in the fifth on Amos Otis's two-run homer and Clint Hurdle's two-run double, but the Mariners took a 5-4 lead in the bottom of the fifth on Juan Bernhardt's homer.

Rangers 3 Twins 2

Al Oliver, who singled home the first run in the opening inning, singled home pinch runner Bobby Thompson in the 11th as Texas ended Minnesota relief ace Mike Marshall's string of successes. In his previous five appearances since joining the Twins last week, Marshall had earned a win and four saves.

Tigers 3-0 Orioles 2-1

Andres Mora's first home run since being recalled from the minor leagues May 15 and Jim Palmer's six-hit pitching highlighted Baltimore's victory in the nightcap. The Tigers, who had lost 11 straight games in Baltimore since July 31, 1976, won the opener on a ninth-inning single by Aurelio Rodriguez.

Wife of double agent says CIA is lying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wife of a U.S. double agent last seen three years ago thinks the CIA may have forfeited her husband's life to boost the career of another Soviet spy secretly working for the United States.

Nicholas Shadrin was last seen on a winter night in Vienna stepping into a car with two agents of the KGB, the Soviet secret police.

The United States says it doesn't know what happened to Shadrin.

But his wife, Eva, says the CIA already has lied about how it convinced her husband to become a double agent. And, she says, agents may be lying about what happened to him.

So she wants Senator Birch Bayh (Dem. Ind.), chairman of the Senate intelligence committee, to investigate new information about the disappearance. And she has asked President Carter for a meeting.

Mrs. Shadrin wants an investigation into "what complicity there was by U.S. officials in Mr. Shadrin's disappearance," said Richard Copaken, her lawyer.

Mrs. Shadrin said U.S. intelligence officials told her that her husband was approached in 1966 by the Soviet KGB and asked to become a double agent. They said he agreed to feed the Russians information after consulting with his U.S. superiors.

SAYS VERSION UNTRUE
"But that simply is not true," Copaken said in an interview Wednesday night.

He said a Russian agent known only as Igor called then CIA Director Richard Helms at home in 1966. Helms wasn't home, but his wife took the message.

Igor wanted to go to work for the United States—but to look good to his superiors he needed to recruit Shadrin as a Soviet spy, Copaken said. The lawyer said there is further speculation in the intelligence community that Igor may have been a triple agent and that the KGB knew of his offer to the U.S.

Copaken said Shadrin didn't know about Igor's conversations with the CIA when the FBI began feeding information to KGB operatives through Shadrin.

"His disappearance may very well tie into the way he was recruited," said Copaken. "It may have a tremendous bearing on what may have happened to him in the end. They compromised him from the day one."

Copaken said the CIA and FBI, confronted in April with the alleged Igor connection, said national security prevented them from going beyond what they had previously told Mrs. Shadrin.

Londonderry opens up

LONDONDERRY (AP) — British troops dismantled antiterrorist checkpoints in Londonderry today, making it an open city for the first time since sectarian violence erupted in Northern Ireland in 1969.

The soldiers allowed citizens and vehicles to pass without stopping them for searches or to check for identification.

Security officials said the move was "a calculated risk" taken because of a lull in violence.

However, security authorities said British soldiers will continue to make spot checks of vehicles. A police spokesman said "control zones"—areas where vehicles cannot be left unattended—also will be maintained in the city in a move to combat Irish Republican Army car bombs.

The Provisional wing of the predominantly Roman Catholic IRA is fighting to end British rule and Protestant domination in Northern Ireland. The IRA wants Northern Ireland united with the Republic of Ireland, whose population is mostly Catholic.

Kermode Centre

This is the first of what will be a regular, continuing column on the Kermode Friendship Centre in Terrace in an effort to familiarize the community with this worthwhile service.

The Kermode Friendship Centre has been primarily an Indian Friendship centre in Terrace.

A registered, non-profit organization, the centre is funded through the federal Department of the Secretary of State, Migrating People's Program.

During the 1977-78 year, the centre received $14,399 for core funding to cover the salary for the executive director and some administrative costs. Further funding is provided through the proceeds of the regular Bingo games held weekly.

Other sources have been through Canada Manpower, Canada Works Project, and Youth Preventative Program in the amount of $54,600.

The project employs six people, a project manager, a bookkeeper, a case aide worker, a recreation director and assistant and two streetworkers, and runs through to November, 1978.

Further to this, Kermode Friendship Centre has one Native Court Worker and her assistant who are funded on the provincial level through the Attorney General's Department.

Kermode is one of 18 Native friendship centres in British Columbia and one of 72 across Canada. Kermode is also an affiliated member of Pacific Association of Communication in Friendship Indian Centres which is a provincial organization whose main function is assisting all friendship centres in the province with funding.

Programs presently underway at Kermode Friendship Centre are recreation, Teen Club, Young One's Group and Women's Auxiliary.

Programs planned for the future are a legal services worker and Indian cultural awareness. Coming up for the summer are Kermode sponsored annual softball and soccer tournaments, and field trips for the Teen Club to Williams Lake for the United Native Nations Annual Conference in July.

The problems in native housing in Terrace are very big and the centre is currently taking a survey to find out exactly where the majority of these problems are.

The Kermode Friendship Centre invites you to come and have a cup of coffee with us anytime you're in the neighbourhood.

Would-be hijacker shot by pilot

MARION, Ill. (AP) — A former Vietnam combat pilot wrestled a gun from a would-be hijacker Wednesday and shot her to death while his helicopter reeled out of control 600 feet above the ground near the U.S. penitentiary at Marion.

Allen Barklage, 30, of St. Louis said Barbara Oswald, in her mid-40s, also of St. Louis, had ordered him to land in an exercise yard at the maximum security prison where some of the most-dangerous criminals in the United States are confined.

He quoted her as saying they would be carrying off three convicts.

Barklage said the woman chartered the helicopter in St. Louis under the pretense of flying to Cape Girardeau, Mo., about 56 kilometres beyond the prison, which is about 150 kilometres by air southeast of St. Louis.

About 30 to 40 minutes into the flight, he said, she pulled a .44-calibre pistol and ordered him to fly to the prison.

About four kilometres from the prison, Barklage saw his chance.

"She was trying to open the doors and she switched her weapon from her left hand to her right hand," he said. "She put her finger on the trigger guard and not on the trigger."

"I let go of the helicopter controls and let it do whatever it wanted," he said. "I grabbed for the gun and we had a 10-or 15-second struggle."

FIRE FOUR SHOTS

The Bell Jetranger II helicopter was pitching and turning wildly, he said. It was so erratic, "that I shot four times—shot all five times but one missed—and I only hit her once."

"And she was only two feet away from me."

Barklage righted the aircraft and set it down about 25 metres from the entrance to the prison administration building, which is linked by barred doors and a hallway to the main prison.

The FBI, which took over the investigation, refused to allow prison authorities to identify the convicts who were to be plucked out of the exercise yard. The yard was in use by prisoners at the time as part of the normal institution routine.

Warden George Wilkinson said no charges were filed against the three men but they were separated from other prisoners.

Ronald Beal, a prison spokesman, said one of the trio was serving a prison term for hijacking an aircraft, another had been convicted of air piracy and the third was in prison for bank robbery.

Getting married should be hard

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative MP Benno Friesen said today he thinks it should be tougher to get married.

"It's too easy to get married in Canada," Friesen (PC-Surrey-White Rock) complained, as the Commons immigration committee discussed problems associated with so-called marriages of convenience—a device some immigrants use to settle here.

Friesen, a married father of two, urged Immigration Minister Bud Cullen to discuss with provinces methods of making marriage procedures more strict, including new training programs for those licensed to perform marriages.

Cullen said he doubts he can do much to make it more difficult to marry. If anything, the trend now was to make the process easier. Fewer couples are opting for traditional church weddings which require a period when the marriage must first be announced from the pulpit.

Friesen suggested after the meeting, however, that tougher rules are needed to stop those working the marriage-of-convenience racket.

Those involved were often prostitutes or pimps who charge a fee to marry immigrants, then abandon their spouses once they receive full landed immigrant status.

Man couldn't stop wife's abortion

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — A British court refused Wednesday to give a 32-year-old steelworker the right to stop his estranged wife from having an abortion.

Fifty pro-and anti-abortionists demonstrated outside the courthouse as High Court Judge Sir George Baker ruled William Paton has no legal right to a say in the destiny of the unborn child.

The case aroused considerable controversy in Britain, where the 1967 Abortion Act requires only the signatures of two doctors before an abortion is carried out. The act makes no mention of rights for the father.

Last week Paton, who is separated from his 29-year-old wife Joan, told reporters: "I feel that the baby is half mine and I should have the right to say what happens to it. I want that baby more than anything on this earth."

Paton and his wife were married for four years before the marriage broke up last week.

Baker said Paton's application for an injunction to stop his wife having her two-month pregnancy terminated was "completely misconceived." Mrs. Paton refused to comment when she left the court with her lawyers.

Paton said he will attempt to appeal the ruling.

Betty Ford drinking water

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sipping ice water and turning over her wine glass so it would not be filled, Betty Ford has returned to the Washington party circuit for an evening with fellow Republicans.

"I'm really feeling very well," she told dozens of old friends and admirers who crowded around her Wednesday night at a cocktail hour sponsored by the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, a Washington organization with which former president Gerald Ford is associated.

Earlier in the day, at an unveiling of the Ford's official portraits at a White House ceremony, President Carter called Mrs. Ford "perhaps the most popular person in our country today who has earned the admiration of our nation for her courage and complete candor."

Ford, moved by Carter's words, said Cuban-born artist Felix de Cossio, who painted Mrs. Ford's portrait, "did a beautiful job; I'm not only proud of the portrait but what it portrays."

Mrs. Ford, 60, was released this month after almost four weeks of hospital treatment for what she described as an addiction to drugs and alcohol. The Fords are spending several days in the capital, scheduling a number of public appearances.

HELPFUL HINTS ON HAVING A Healthy Garden

WINDOW BOX GARDENS

If you don't have a backyard to use as a garden, or if you just want an extra challenge added on to your green-thumb duties, why not try window-box gardening? Here are some tips from experts on how to get started in this ever-more-popular pastime—and how to avoid problems en route.

• First, provide appropriate boxes with holes in the bottom for drainage. Put in two or three inches of cinders or broken brick and fill with rich, porous soil. Regular attention to watering is of prime importance.

• Your window box should fit the window space, but if the length is excessive, make it in two sections. For good results, the box should be not less than 8 inches deep and 10 inches wide. Bore 1/2-inch holes 6 inches apart in bottom for drainage.

• The best soil for window boxes is one that is rich and with plenty of humus to retain moisture. Use two parts loam, one part peat moss, with a five-inch pot of super-phosphate mixed with each bushel.

• Among the most satisfactory flowers that grow in window boxes are begonias, geraniums, fuchsias, ageratum, petunias, dwarf marigolds, pansies, morning glory and sweet alyssum.

• All house, hanging and window box plants need plant food to maintain vigor and color. One that is recommended by many professionals is Earth Care Professional Plant Food. To use, mix one-quarter teaspoon per gallon of water for hanging and other indoor plants and one tablespoon to one gallon of water for outdoor and patio plants. For iron "anemic" plants, treat with the recommended rate of Earth Care Professional Plant Iron Tonic soluble powder.

Window gardens may not be as large as the garden in your backyard, but they can be as beautiful if they get the proper care and planning.

New colors in kitchen wood cabinets and the popular coppertone appliances now used so widely.

New Lighting Does Wonders For Bathroom

The most neglected room as far as efficient lighting is concerned is the bathroom. Even in new houses or condominiums, a tiny fixture over the medicine cabinet is expected to provide sufficient lighting for a close shave or a glamorous make-up.

In order to give shadowless light, a bathroom mirror should have a lighting fixture on either side and one in the ceiling above the head to illuminate all of the face equally. The latest type of lighting on the market is Track Lighting and it is ideal for this purpose, because it is not stationary like other fixtures. It can be moved along its track on the ceiling and swiveled around to focus wherever necessary.

The tracks come in two lengths—four or eight feet, and can be joined or crossed or placed in a "T" or "L". The lights themselves come in various shapes and sizes. New for the home are the "mini" sizes, which are only 2 1/2" to 3 1/2" in diameter. What's more, each light on the track can be switched on and off individually.

You'll be surprised what a treasured booster good, bright lighting can be in your bathroom.

Color to Unify . . . to bring together the seeming clutter of a variety of cabinets and appliances, match wall colors to cabinets or colored appliances, or appliances to cabinets, or cabinets, appliances and wall color. Paint everything to match.

Color for Good Seeing . . . if natural light is limited, use pale, light-reflecting colors.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

A day for action! Don't slow up progress by being overly meticulous, fussy, looking for nonexistent defects in your program.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Don't be impulsive about making changes unless you are certain they will prove beneficial. Business pursuits highly favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Your know-how and ability to handle the unexpected could result in outstanding advantages. Spend time and talents constructively. This day will be rich in opportunity.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

A fair day. You can manage in better-than-average fashion, yet must take precautions neither to underestimate nor overestimate new propositions.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Stress your innate enthusiasm and eagerness to do well but be willing, also, to wait out results, to accept temporary setbacks with inner calm.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You're in the spotlight now, with special emphasis on response to your efforts and presentation of ideas. Curb any tendency toward aggressiveness; win your way through tact and diplomacy.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Not a good day for finances. There's a tendency to "throw good money after bad." Avoid rather, cut losses ruthlessly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Do not let a personal disappointment mar your overall perspective. Continue to aim for high goals. Your adeptness, know-how and intuition should be potent now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

If pressed for time, you may overlook vitally important details. Be alert to this, since carelessness could cause needless errors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stellar influences should inspire top-flight effort. Especially favored: educational projects, family concerns, community interests, health programs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Uranus not too friendly. Avoid getting in over your head—especially where you happen to be on unfamiliar ground.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Excellent Neptune influences! New trends may result in an agreement, where there was only opposition before. Do make the most of such fine opportunity.

YOU BORN TODAY are clever, witty and engaging in manner. You attract friends easily—and keep them. You have been endowed with many talents but, of all these, your gift of words is paramount—which makes you a "natural" for writing in any form which pleases you. You would make an outstanding reporter, editor, lecturer or TV commentator. In fact, all branches of the communications media make fine outlets for your talents and, through them, you can capitalize on your lively imagination, your originality and progressiveness. Science and the law also appeal to you, as does music, the theater and sculpture. You are a born traveler and could succeed in any occupation which keeps you "on the go." Birthdate of: John Wayne, film star; James Arness, TV star ("Gunsmoke"); Peggy Lee, singer.

FOR SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Don't let your curiosity get the better of you. It just COULD lead you into a ticklish situation which would prove far from desirable.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Fine Venus influences. A good day for making important decisions—especially as they relate to creative projects, home and community affairs, personal relationships.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

There's never a dull moment when you are at your best—and this is a day when you should be! There's plenty of planetary help for the ambitious, optimistic doer.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Many demands will be made on your time and effort. There won't be an easy way to handle but, with your optimism, originality and ingenuity, you'll find the means with which to cope.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may have to discipline yourself sternly to keep on the road to accomplishment now. Be especially careful not to lose your temper if certain persons annoy.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

This day is especially tailored for scientific matters; professional, technical workers; also has bright prospects for teachers, students. New ideas stimulated.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Some surprising events indicated—perhaps a completely unexpected visit from an old friend or a relative from afar.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

A day in which to keep your own counsel. Otherwise, it would be only too easy to involve yourself in fruitless discussions or other communications which get you nowhere.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A short trip may bring some surprising results—even, possibly, a complete change in your present set-up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

The success of an old friend will certainly call for a celebration. Do your part to make it a truly convivial one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Stars now put the accent on romance. You should hear, directly or indirectly, some highly interesting news about an old flame.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

If planning a trip, be sure you don't go overboard financially. Get all schedules, costs, etc. in writing. Better plan on some "extras," too.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a keen, discerning and analytical mind; are original and highly imaginative in all that you undertake.

Mercury, your governing planet, has bestowed upon you a magnificent gift of words, and the history of Geminians is replete with the names of great writers, reporters, editors and playwrights. You are extremely articulate, so your gift of words extends to the lecture platform, to the classroom and to the electronic media. You have other talents, too, and may choose music, the theater or the law as a career. Unlike many others born under your Sign, you could also reach top-level attainment in the financial world. Birthdate of: Jay Gould, industrial tycoon; Amelia Bloomer, early advocate of women's rights; Vincent Price, stage and screen star; Herman Wouk, Amer. author; Sam Snead, renowned golfer; Isadora Duncan, world-famous dancer.

FOR SUNDAY, MAY 28, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Don't take anything for granted. Make sure! Neither be pessimistic nor follow blind optimism. Day calls for exceptionally good judgment.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Tension indicated in certain areas. Avoid those who are overly emotional and keep out of situations which could needlessly involve you in others' problems.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Do not yield to indifference or lose confidence in a matter which seems stymied. Strengthen your hand with facts, your faith with courage.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

It would be wise to keep plans flexible now. Certain changes of circumstance may call for sudden improvisation.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Some situations complicated. Be sure you have all the facts before making decisions. Whether day is for recreation or you have tasks to perform, remain composed.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A day when you can sit back and rest on your laurels—with warm satisfaction. Hours after noon splendid for social interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be realistic and pursue only worthwhile goals. New opportunities offered through the use of your creative ability.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

An on-and-off day, but you should come through handsomely if you stress your clever manner of handling situations and your tact in dealing with others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

An excellent day for combining business with pleasure, of profiting from your past displays of good will.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A casual meeting with someone of importance will have pleasing results—but not immediately. Keep that best foot forward!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some persons may react in a manner not fully anticipated. Do not let this throw you off balance or ruin your innately sunny disposition.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Give careful thought to decisions you must make soon. Try to understand thoroughly the jobs and involvements of the next few days. And be objective!

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly gregarious individual and a born traveler; could succeed in almost any occupation which involves journeys to far places and dealing with the public. But your extraordinary facility with words will probably draw you to some form of literature, journalism or the communications media. All of which adds up to the fact that, as a travel writer or reporter, you would be "tops." You have a gift for languages, too, and can master them easily. Study them for, in whatever profession you choose, they would be a tremendous asset. You tend toward unconventionality and unorthodox methods but are discerning enough to hide these traits when it's advisable.

Despite your inherent dislike for monotony and "duty," you handle responsibilities well. Birthdate of: Thomas Moore, Irish poet; Ian Fleming, author (creator of "James Bond"); Carroll Baker, film actress.

Today's Cryptquip clue: U equals I
The Cryptquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

No Place for Unions

By K. R. S. RAJAN
CP Correspondent
BOMBAY (CP) — "There is no place here for labor organizations. You are all Communist agents who deserve to be thrown into the sea or executed."

These harsh words were spoken by an Arab government official to a group of Indian, Pakistani and other Asian workers employed on a giant construction project in the sultanate of Muscat and Oman in the Middle East.

The official was reacting to demands for regular working hours, overtime wages and better living conditions for the 4,000 people working on the project.

Several Indians have been asked to leave the wealthy sultanate at short notice on the charge of "inciting labor unrest."

EXPULSION FOR PROTESTS

Eruvat Shekhar, a 31-year-old Indian technician, told The Times of India, Bombay's leading English-language newspaper, that he was expelled for protesting regulations requiring workers to work even up to 16 hours a day if labor contractors wanted them to do so.

The Times said it had also received complaints from Asians in other Arab sheikdoms about harsh working conditions for immigrants.

Tens of thousands of Indians, Pakistanis and other Asians have been recruited for industrial projects in the Middle East. Every month millions of dollars are being sent by the immigrants to their home countries, helping to boost the domestic economies.

Indian press reports allege that most of the Indians working in Arab sheikdoms are nothing more than "reasonably well-paid slaves and bonded laborers."

The Times recently reported that 2,800 Indian workers were sent to prison in Muscat and Oman when they protested nonpayment of overtime wages.

Ironically, the modern prison had just been built by the Indians themselves.

Let each religion play the role of a flower. Let us make a garland of these divine flowers and offer them at the Feet of God. God will be pleased. We shall be fulfilled.
